

NAVAL OFFICERS BOARDED 'SUB' AFTER CONTROVERSY

Agents of Owners of German Submarine Protest Against Inspection Until Von Bernstorff Gives Approval—Craft of Prime Importance as Diplomatic Asset.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Baltimore, Md., July 11.—United States naval experts, after a vigorous controversy, today made a detailed examination of the German super-submarine Deutschland after her record-breaking trans-oceanic trip. Under instructions from Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, Captain Koenig, of the submarine, allowed Captain C. E. Hughes, Lt. Commander J. O. Fisher and Naval Constructor H. S. Howard, of the navy department, to inspect the vessel.

The German agents of the line which owns the Deutschland, headed by Paul Hilken, flatly refused to allow the naval officers to board the ship without permission from Count von Bernstorff, and they kept the experts on shore until the ambassador, from New York, had advised that the inspection be permitted.

Count von Bernstorff's decision ended a serious controversy. The United States officials had notified the Germans that the inspection was their legal duty and they proposed to proceed with it. The Germans declared that they would allow no one on board the vessel without express permission of the ambassador. Only prompt communication with Count von Bernstorff prevented a serious altercation.

The ambassador's decision made it apparent that the German officials are determined to go to almost any length to establish the status of the Deutschland as a merchant ship and thus form the basis for a diplomatic fight to break the British-French blockade of German ports.

"Entirely Private Venture."
New York, July 11.—"The submarine boat Deutschland at Baltimore from Germany is entirely a private venture," declared Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, today. "I had no official notice of it before its arrival here. Officially it had nothing whatever to do with the German government. It is purely a private business venture."

Count von Bernstorff admitted that the submarine brought him a lot of official mail.
"I cannot discuss that now," said the ambassador. "I will say, however, that it did not bring any letter from the Imperial government to President Wilson."

"Trump Card" to Play.
Washington, July 11.—That the super-submarine Deutschland will officially be classified as a peaceful merchantman within 24 hours was certain today. Official circles agreed that no other ruling was possible although it will be deferred until experienced naval constructors make an official report.

Meanwhile speculation increased as to the chances of the under-sea boat successfully essaying the return trip. In this connection diplomats closely associated with the German embassy intimated that the men in control of the craft still have a "trump card" to play.

What it is no one naturally will reveal. But they say that the Deutschland can go back whenever her owners so decide even though the entire Anglo-French fleet is massed to prevent it.
One thing emphasized in view of the extravagant declarations by Entente sympathizers that there would be a great massing of destroyers and armed motor boats along the Atlantic seaboard to sink the Deutschland when she passes out of the three-mile limit, was that when the craft had been officially given the status of a merchant vessel she must be treated as such. This means, it is pointed out, that all of the provisions of international law as defined by the agreements forced upon Germany by the United States must be rigidly observed. The Deutschland must be stopped in regular manner, visited and searched and provision made for the safety of her passengers and crew before she can be sunk.

"American" on Board.

Add there was said today to be an excellent chance when she sails from Baltimore she will have on board at least one American citizen, as several have made offers of an enormous price for the privilege of taking passage to Bremen on the submarine. Naturally this would complicate the situation.

TOAST TO "OLD HICKORY."

Rejected by Army. Man Drinks Poison.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Memphis, Tenn., July 11.—"Here's to you, Old Hickory. We want you now in our hour of need to help raise an army without red tape or politics. God-bye, Old Fellow."

Standing before a statue of Andrew Jackson in courthouse square today, a man named A. C. Jackson made this toast and drank a glass of poison. He died instantly. Hundreds of pedestrians heard this little speech and witnessed its tragic close.
Jackson came here a week ago from Arkansas to join the army but was rejected on account of his physical condition.

CARGO OF LEAST IMPORTANCE SAY "SUB" VOYAGERS

Three Great Hopes of Germany Are Based Upon Exploits of Pioneer Undersea Trader—Dyestuffs Aboard Worth $1,000,000—Bremen to Bring American Securities.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Baltimore, July 11.—A maelstrom of world politics today centered about a closely guarded, bright green shape that rose and fell in the swash of Baltimore harbor—the German super-submarine Deutschland, first commercial under-sea boat of all time. On the exploit of the pioneer trader of the deep and the twenty-nine weather-brown German sailors there were based three great hopes and the Germans prepared for the realization of hopes with all their skill.

With the trip of the Deutschland it can be stated on authority German plans to gain these things:
The admission by neutral countries, particularly the United States, that the British-French blockade of German ports is incapable of enforcement, is illegal under international law and is not binding upon neutral trade.

A direct line of trade with the outside world free from interference by the warships of the Entente Allies.
A safe means of sending to the United States hundreds of millions of American securities now tied up in Germany to be used here in building up German credit, and aiding German economic expansion.

Behind these plans the entire force of German diplomatic strategy and German political genius is to be placed. The campaign will be unofficial but positively, nevertheless, led by Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador now in summer (Continued on Page 5.)

TWO OFFICERS OF 69TH CANNOT GO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Camp Whitman, N. Y., July 11.—Col. Lewis W. Conley and Lieut. Col. John Phelan, senior officers commanding the 69th regiment received notice by telephone direct from General Wood this morning that they had both been ordered mustered out of the service for physical disability.

The order came like a bolt of lightning out of a clear sky to Col. Conley. He at once sent for Lieut. Col. Phelan, Major Michael Lynch and Major T. Monahan and gave them the bad news. Col. Conley would not make any statement.

Both officers were heart-broken at the news and the other officers could hardly restrain their tears when the colonel told them he would have to leave them. The nature of the physical disability was not stated.

Col. Conley after a talk over the telephone with General Wood announced that the order mustering him out of the service had been modified to extent that he was authorized to proceed with his regiment to its destination in Texas and there turn over the command to the departmental commander.

The order regarding Lieut. Col. Phelan stands and he has already received the official order mustering him out of the service.

TENTH TO BORDER WITHIN A WEEK

Major General O'Ryan Knows of No Reason for Further Delays—Vaccination and Inoculation Cause Some Suffering—Ice Plant to Add Comfort.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
McAllen, Tex., July 11.—All of New York's National Guard are expected in Texas within a week. Major General O'Ryan said today that he saw no reason for any further delay in bringing all the militia here, as the recruits could be as well trained on the border as at Camp Whitman.

With the arrival of the First Battalion of the 74th Infantry of Buffalo at Pharr and the expected arrival today and tonight of the rest of the 74th and the 23rd, two-thirds of the Empire State's forces will be on the border. The 69th, 2nd and 3rd regiments will make the complete quota.

There is a dearth of cots for the men and all who can are buying their own rather than sleep on the ground. Many are suffering from smallpox vaccination and typhoid inoculation but the effects of these will soon wear off.

An ice plant will be constructed within a short time. This will bring great cheer to the soldier boys. It will have a capacity of ten tons a day.

CHAINED DAUGHTER LIKE DOG

Orange Resident Arrested for Barbarous Punishment.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Orange, N. J., July 11.—Freed from a chain that bound her like a dog, nine year Lena Dequigne is playing happily with other children at the parental home today, while her father is awaiting prosecution on a charge of assault and battery on a minor. One cheek of the little girl is lacerated and inflamed. Her wounds, according to City Physician Martinetti, were caused by human teeth.

Dequigne's excuse for chaining his daughter is that in spite of his prohibition, she played with the other children on the railroad tracks.

Investigation found the little child crouched on the back steps. Round her neck, fastened by a padlock, was a leather. Attached to it was a chain, the other end of which was attached to the rear wall of the house.

MANSION HOUSE CHANGES HANDS

Historic Old Hostelry Has Been Sold by Benjamin Abrams to Jack Abramovich of Newark, N. J.—Ed. R. Cashion to Conduct Bar.

The historic old Mansion House at Broadway and the Strand has again changed hands, and is now owned by Jack Abramovich of Newark, N. J., who has purchased it from Benjamin Abrams. Mr. Abramovich has sold the stock of liquors and cigars in the hotel to Edward R. Cashion, who will conduct the hotel bar.

Mr. Abrams, the former owner, was a prominent resident of New Rochelle, who purchased the hotel from Irving Von Beck on May 23 of this year, and took possession. The purchase price was not made public. Mr. Abrams when he took possession of the hotel announced that he expected to build an addition in the rear of the hotel for a moving picture theater, but whether the new owner will carry out that project is not known.

The famous old hotel was built in 1850 by Major George Francis Von Beck and for years has been one of the best known hotels in the Hudson river valley.

In one of the suspected cases at Dickinson, Franklin county, the patient, a 5 year old boy, is stopping at a dairy farm. The case came from Brooklyn. The sanitary inspector has stopped the sale of milk from the dairy and the husband has gone to a neighboring farm to board while the rest of the family has been quarantined.

It was announced at the health department today that Dr. John Smith of Saratoga Lake has been transferred to the Sullivan, Orange and Ulster county district as sanitary supervisor to succeed Dr. Charles Berry, who has been sent away with his regiment.

PARALYSIS DEATH RATE TAKES JUMP WITHIN 24 HOURS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 11.—Despite the increased efforts of the health officials to curb the epidemic of infantile paralysis, the number of cases and deaths took a sudden jump during the last 24 hours. A total of 195 new cases and 32 deaths were reported to the health department, increasing to 1,278 the grand total of cases and to 270 the grand total of deaths.

Twenty deaths and 155 of the new cases were in Brooklyn borough. Manhattan had 6 deaths and 14 cases. The others were scattered over Queens, Richmond and the Bronx.

The number of deaths and cases reported today was more than double that listed Monday, when there were 14 deaths and 90 cases recorded.

NO NEW CASES OF PLAGUE REPORTED

One Death From Infantile Paralysis Reported at Highland—Woman Boarder Near Ellenville Driven Out by Landlord Whom Her Child Became Ill.

No new cases of infantile paralysis in Kingston have been reported to Health Officer Frank A. Johnston and the only two cases reported in the city are being carefully watched to prevent the spread of the disease.

One death from infantile paralysis has been reported in Highland. This was the death Sunday evening of William Donovan, 6 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Donovan, who was taken ill on Friday. The mother and her three children had been visiting in Poughkeepsie on the Fourth, and had returned home early the same day, fearing the epidemic. The child was taken with vomiting and convulsions, it is said, shortly after being prostrated by the disease. The village authorities are taking measures to check the spread of the disease in that village.

Health Officer Johnston was awakened at midnight Monday by a ring on his door bell to which he responded. He found a woman with her baby in her arms. From her story she was a resident of New York city, and had been boarding at a Jewish boarding house near Ellenville for about two weeks. Her child became ill and the boarding housekeeper became scared thinking the child had infantile paralysis, and compelled the mother and child to leave his house Monday evening. The mother engaged an automobile and came to Kingston.

Dr. Johnston made a careful examination of the child, and found no indications of infantile paralysis, and advised the mother to go back to the boarding house. As the doctor has heard nothing further from her up to this noon it is presumed that she had no trouble in convincing the landlord that her child did not have the dread disease.

It is quite likely that the question of keeping the disease in check in this city will be thoroughly discussed tonight at the regular meeting of the board of health.

WASHINGTON CITY OF NEW YORK.

Pavements Given Baths in Efforts to Check Disease.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 11.—This is "Clean-up Day" in New York city. The work of removing all filth that might become places for infantile paralysis germs is proceeding.

Six thousand men are spraying ten millions gallons of water on streets and sidewalks; seventy-six more hospital and field nurses are at work; the police continue to round up all those who violate the sanitary code; already more than 600 have been fined.

For the first time the health officials today expressed hope that the plague might be checked before it developed into the worst epidemic that has ever ravaged New York. Health Commissioner Haven Emerson said it was too early to make predictions but that as long as there were no big jumps in the number of deaths he was "hopeful."

BRITISH CAPTURE CONTALMAISON IN A BLOODY ATTACK

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 11.—After a bloody battle which was marked no less by the violence of the direct attacks than by the fury of the counter assaults of the Germans, the English are again in the shell-ridden village of Contalmaison on the Somme front.

Official announcement of the recapture of Contalmaison was made by the British war office at noon.

The British had previously taken the town, after it had been shattered by artillery fire, but had to give it up.

A second drive was launched, and after a series of night attacks, the Germans were again driven out. Contalmaison lies between the Ancre and Somme rivers, about eight miles south of Bapaume, the immediate objective of the British offensive.

Contalmaison was first captured on the morning of July 7. Before the British could organize their new positions the concentrated batteries of the Germans between Cambes and Bapaume opened up with a burst of fire which drenched the new position with steel. This cannonade on the night of July 7 was followed by powerful attacks which finally drove the English troops out. Since then a great struggle has been raging at that point.

The official report of the war office reads:

"Last night, after a brisk bombardment, we recaptured Contalmaison by assault, capturing 197 unwounded prisoners, including a battalion commander, and four other officers. Counter attacks were delivered which were beaten off with heavy loss to the enemy. The whole of Contalmaison is now in our hands."

"Farther eastwards we stormed several lines of German trenches in Bois de Mametz. The greater part of this wood is now in our possession. We captured a heavy howitzer, three field guns and 296 unwounded prisoners, including three officers."

"Heavy fighting is taking place in Trones Wood."

"On Sunday one of our aeroplanes was downed by anti-aircraft guns and three others have not returned."

WHAT RED CROSS WORK STANDS FOR

Same and Scientific Relief Best Accomplished Through Tried Channels Declares Statement by Chairman of Ulster County Chapter.

There seems to be so much misunderstanding in the community as to the status of the Red Cross Society in connection with the present war relief, either civilian or military, that Mrs. C. N. Reed, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, has the following statement to make:

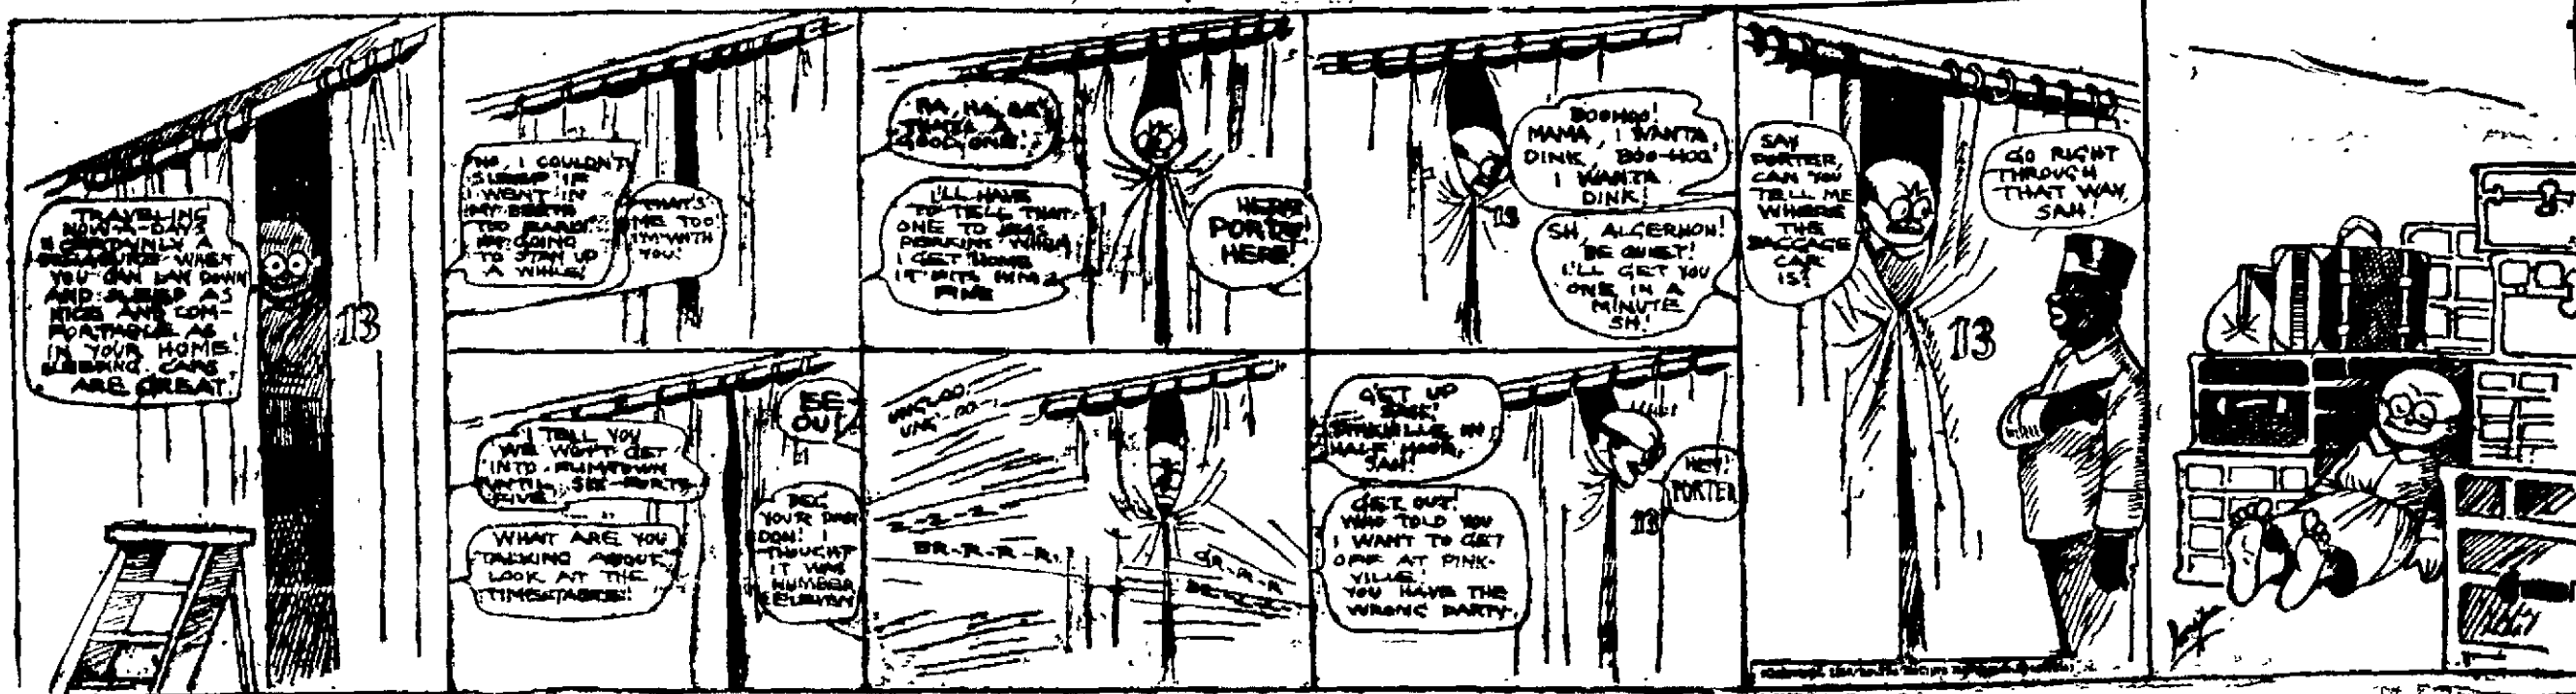

The American Red Cross is an official government organization for the relief of disaster, famine or disease afflicted lands or districts during times of peace; and for the relief of the Army or Navy or as in this time, the civilians depending upon the soldiers for their support. It is not asked by any community to do this relief work, especially the receiving and distributing of funds and supplies, but it is peremptorily instructed by the national body to do this work, according to sane, careful, protected methods.

That is exactly what the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross is doing now, here in the city of Kingston and county of Ulster, in so far as the people are making use of its established and efficient means of operation. It is purely a matter of service on the part of the Red Cross, but of organized service, with a most efficient treasurer in Joseph M. Schaeffer, an equally efficient secretary in Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, and as heads of the two relief committees, Mrs. Chandler, chairman of the Civilian Relief and Mrs. Meagher, chairman of the Military Relief Committee; women chosen because of their special fitness for the positions and known by all to be exceedingly capable.

"Those Kingstonians who recall the Ohio flood, and the fact that in less than ten days, the Red Cross received and distributed to the relief of sufferers over $2,100 and nineteen large packing cases of excellent clothing, will know whether or not the organization, of over one hundred members, worked with efficiency and dispatch. For eight years the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross has faithfully and conscientiously serving the people of this community, and it is now ready and fully prepared to give an equal degree of capable service through the Civilian Relief Committee, the Military Relief Committee and its treasurer, Mr. Schaeffer of the State of New York National Bank."

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Dress for the Growing Girl.
1650—Girls' dress with or without over blouse, and with two styles of sleeve.

This would make a very attractive dress for party or best wear, for graduation or for dancing school. Silk and crepe or crepe de chine could be effectively combined in this model, also chiffon and net or tulle. The dress may be finished without the over blouse. The sleeve in wrist length has a new cuff. In short length the sleeve is in puff style with gathered ruffle.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 10 year size for the dress, with 1 1/2 yards for the over blouse.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

TENTH ENGAGED IN SHAM BATTLE

Still in Camp, Although Gossips Have Sent it Everywhere, From Peaks-kill to Tenth—Delay in Equipment
Not Likely to Cause Suffering.

Camp Whitman, July 10, (Special).
The Tenth Regiment held a sham battle at Camp Whitman today when the Second Battalion of the Tenth marched into the Fishkill hills southeast of the camp and was fired on by the "enemy." The other two battalions came up as reinforcements and after a two hours battle the enemy was routed and driven east into the hills. This was the result of a maneuver problem Colonel Klein set for the regiment and it was the first that an entire regiment has been engaged in since the state troops have been at Camp Whitman.

Officers of the Tenth were pleasantly surprised by the way the men of the regiment went through the exercise. Other military critics who came to watch the men of the Tenth said they acted like veterans. Whole companies hid so well in the grass on the hills that they were almost invisible at fifty yards.

Captain Charles H. Canfield, acting commander of the Second Battalion, led the troops that were surprised by the imaginary enemy. He fell back until Major Denison, in command of the Albany battalion, arrived and then forward the entire regiment hurrying out on a front of 1,200 yards, began the attack. The regiment assumed a position on the top of a hill, while the enemy was on the top of another 700 yards away. Both worked slowly down the hill to a valley between when the "fierce fighting" occurred. A fired regiment returned to camp at 5 o'clock this afternoon after the battle.

Tenth Not Gone to Peekskill.

Despite the fact that camp gossips had announced that the Tenth Regiment would start for a hike to Peaks-kill this morning the regiment is still at Camp Whitman and will remain here until the Forty-Seventh arrives from Peekskill. At least that is the latest gossip. Really, it is not known whether the Tenth will then be sent to Peekskill or go to the border, or will remain in camp and fight more sham battles. Even the officers do not know just when the Tenth will leave Camp Whitman for Peekskill or anywhere else. Only the camp gossips and the public think they know.

Government Ships Shoes.

Word was received by Colonel Klein this afternoon from the state authorities that a consignment of shoes is to be sent to the regiment.
Some of the money collected by the Albany companies to buy an automobile truck will be used to purchase shoes in case the consignment does not prove as large as expected.

Tenth Will be Equipped.

Before the Tenth Regiment is called to hike to Peekskill or anywhere else it will be fully equipped.
It should be borne in mind that before any member of this or any other regiment is called into active service he will be fully equipped. These are not the days of General Washington at Valley Forge as depicted in the Old Farmer's Almanac, and there is no reason why the men should be called to do active duty until they are equipped.

No man of Company M, or any other company of the Tenth will be called upon to march to Peekskill or the border, or even to take part in sham battles, or in drills, unless he is wearing shoes that are in good repair.

Neither the company, regimental or higher officers expect service from unequipped men. While the government had been dilatory in furnishing equipment it is nevertheless a fact that no troops were sent to Texas un-equipped, and it is only reasonable and sensible to presume that the troops that are to be sent out first should be equipped first. And this is being done.

It would be absurd to equip men to remain in camp in preference to equipping the men who are sent to the border first.

These facts applied to the delay in furnishing shoes, rifles and uniforms
to the Tenth are about the only thing we have to judge of our future by and they do not point to immediate service on the border.

striped black and white corduroy, the gaudy pockets being cut horizontally, with diagonal lids. The belt takes three novelty black and white buttons.

ABOUT VEILS.

Up to Date Notes About This Feminine Accessory.

There seems to be a new fad in veil-ings almost every week. At least there is some novelty veiling displayed in the shops, whether it "takes" in the popular fancy or not.

For one thing, there is oriental veiling, sold by the yard. It is made with a plain thin mesh at the top, and the lower half is a heavy figured mesh.
Supposedly the heavy mesh covers the lower part of the face and the thin mesh covers the eyes.

Then there are tea veils—tiny veils, semicircular in shape that cover the eyes and leave the mouth uncovered,
so that one could drink tea while wearing such a veil. If need be, These come in various meshes, with border or all over designs. They are also made in lace.

Striped chiffon for automobile veils is a novelty. It is, of course, in keeping with all things in awning stripes.
In pale violet and white it is especially pretty.

Touring veil is the name applied to the chiffon automobile veil with an inset of singlass to cover the face. These veils are comfortable to wear on a long and dusty trip. There are holes for ventilation; but, even so, they are a bit warm. However, compared to the dust and wind sometimes encountered on a long motor trip, the warmth and security behind the singlass are welcome.

Chenille dots, big ones, decorate a veil with square mesh that is very smart in appearance. The dots form a border design.

Round veils of lace that are spread over the entire hat, to fall in flaring ripples about the face, are much worn this summer. They are useless, of course, in keeping stray locks in place or adding to the general neatness of the appearance. But they help produce the flaring silhouette and are considered smart.

The woman who wishes a veil to keep the hair in place does well to buy veiling by the yard, in taupe, dull blue, violet, brown or black, with fine mesh
and a loose all over design or a simple border.

Table Covers.

Chintzes and French cretonnes come in charming colors and in odd conventional designs. When squares or runners of these materials are bound in heavy gold galloon, no smarter effect could be asked for. Strips and squares of heavy crash bound with linen of a plain color or with a linen border buttonholed on are practical and good looking for camp or bungalow ver-andas.

The blue and white Japanese toweling is fresh looking and equally servable for summer table covers. The blue and white or red and white barred linen toweling, when finished with a white cotton fringe, makes smart covers for wicker tables when out of door teas and lunches are served.

Burlap For Stove.

A piece of burlap is good for polishing the kitchen stove or range. It does not burn readily and for that reason is better than flannel or cotton cloth or paper.

Matter of Comparison.

Election Agent—That was a good long speech our candidate made on the agricultural question, wasn't it?
Farmer Plover—"Oh, ay, it wasn't bad; but a couple of nights' good rain
'ud 'a' done a sight more good."

QUAKER CITY BIDDER HIGH.

Molloy Store, Stock and Fixtures

Brought $472.

Some spirited bidding took place

this afternoon when Joseph M. Powler, as assignee of Abram Molloy, sold

the stock and fixtures in the Molloy store on lower Broadway. The stock had been inventoried at $515.80,

while the fixtures were inventoried at $355, a total for stock and fixtures of $870.80. It was finally knocked down to S. B. Brown of S. B. Brown and Company of Philadelphia. A number of local Hebrew merchants

were present at the sale and bidding

was lively. As the bids crept above the four hundred dollar mark some of the local men doubted the good faith of Mr. Brown and asked that he put up a deposit as he was unknown to them. This he was willing to do, but Mr. Fowler said it was not necessary as he did not doubt his good faith and the other bidders were personally known to him. Mr. Brown's bid of $472.50 was the highest made for the stock and fixtures and they were sold to him. The terms of the sale were cash. Henry Klein was attorney for the assignee. The Molloy store was in the building formerly occupied by "Dick" Kuehn as a men's furnishings store.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 11, 1916.

The arrival of the German submarine Deutschland at Baltimore does not mark the disappearance of the passenger or freight steamer any more than the automobile resulted in horses becoming a drug on the market. The scarcity of horses of all grades, from the heavy draught horse up, never has been more keenly felt, and steamers and sailing vessels will not tie up at their wharves to rot unless the submarine becomes an enemy ship. In the latter event there is slight hope for the ordinary vessel, as Germany demonstrated by her submarine warfare and now has furnished conclusive proof by the four-thousand mile trip of the Deutschland. Germany's latest exploit probably is less an attempt to negotiate commerce with neutral nations, particularly the United States, than it is a warning to her allied enemies that neither inventive genius nor indomitable energy have suffered in Germany as the result of the war, but that on the contrary they have been stirred into superlative activity. The Deutschland's trip to America may even be conceived to be in accordance with a plan to show the United States that German power still is capable of wrecking inconceivable damage to our shipping and in our harbors in spite of British blockades. All that is needed to enforce German demands in our present state of unpreparedness is the enlargement of the unit used to demonstrate the undersea boat's ability to travel from Germany to American harbors, and the arming of each unit with torpedoes instead of supplying the boats with cargoes of dyestuffs. Even with a large fleet of super-submarines built on the lines of the Deutschland, and with equal carrying capacity, it is doubtful if sufficient supplies could be carried from America for Germany's needs. Germany subordinates all other aims to military plans. In the stage the war has now reached impressive lessons are needed from the German viewpoint in order to create or check influences which may be favorable or detrimental to Germany, as the need may be, and such a lesson is furnished by the Deutschland's successful voyage, which will be heralded as the greatest maritime feat of history. To the people of the United States it ought also to be the greatest lesson they have ever had in showing them the unprepared condition we are in and how absolutely we are at the mercy of a prepared country which might become our active enemy.

Although the germ which causes infantile paralysis has not been discovered, experience with epidemics similar to that which is now under way would seem to indicate that it breeds in filth. Therefore, while cities, states and the National government are supplying scientists to give whatever aid they can to combat the disease, municipalities where it has been found to exist are exerting the power at their command to exterminate the germs by removing the filth where they may be breeding. Municipal cleanliness has improved in the last twenty-five years and conditions which formerly were regarded as the usual accompaniment of community life are not tolerated now. Nevertheless, communities and their officials become lax in their methods of keeping clean and filth is allowed to accumulate in streets and neighborhoods and become the source of disease-spreading germs. An epidemic of a particular disease is necessary now and then to arouse officials and private individuals to a sense of their responsibility and duty which will be sufficiently strong to impel them into action. This is a strange commentary on human efficiency but it is one of the most effective means of procuring results. Human nature is prone to take things for granted; because neglect of ordinary precautions has not resulted in disaster, there is always an idea in the brain of the careless or the procrastinator that danger is as far removed as the North Pole. Scientists are divided over the question whether the germ is communicated by human carriers who are immune from its effects but readily transmit it to others, or whether the mosquito and fly convey it. They know there is a germ which, however, is too minute to be seen even under high-power bacteriological microscopes. Since accumulations of dirt and filth may be the breeding places of the germ, and certainly do breed germs of dangerous character, it is well to adopt the policy of "Safety first" and not only clean up but keep clean.

Life is largely a matter of give and take, and the individual who spends all the time in trying to monopolize either one or the other forms of activity comes to grief in the end. The application of this principle to public affairs is a novelty but its success in Ulster county on a small scale has worked thus far in a most satisfactory manner. Reference is made to the method of acquiring additional land needed for the construction of State and County highways, which has been in operation only a short time but has given satisfaction to the public, for whose benefit roads are supposed to be constructed, but who in any event pay for such construction, either directly or indirectly. Formerly the county was mulcted whenever by reason of the construction of State or County highways it became necessary to acquire additional land in order to change existing routes and make them more accessible or to ease the grades. All owners were not of the porcine class and many of them asked only reasonable compensation, while occasionally an owner was willing to give the land needed in exchange for the improvement to his remaining property and its enhancement resulting from a good road nearby. Condemnation proceedings proved so expensive as almost to be prohibitive. A plan adopted by the Board of Supervisors recently has been put into operation whereby rights of way must be settled and options acquired before plans are approved, because experience has shown that values often soar after the owner becomes aware that his land is needed. Another important part of the plan of the Supervisors is to change the routes so as to deprive porcine property owners of the benefits of close proximity to improved highways. It is no excuse for an owner to demand punitive damages for comparatively worthless land merely because some neighbor in the past was successful in robbing the County. Under that theory serfdom and vassalage ought to be reinstated, and robber barons receive homage instead of being executed as soon as discovered. The new policy so successfully instituted should be carried out for all future improvements. It is a poor rule by which the City or County or State is always made the goat.

LETTER LAUGH.
 Fisherman's Luck—Jones—"How are they biting today?" Green—"On the neck and legs mostly."—Judge.

"Republicans are ungrateful." "I don't complain," replied Senator Sorghum. "Sometimes I'm rather thankful that a republic is inclined as a rule to forget what's past and gone."—Washington Star.

First Girl—"Do you know I heard that Mamie Brown's engagement ring is paste?" Second girl—"Perfectly lovely and appropriate. You know her fiancé is a paper hanger."—Boston Transcript.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I have good news." "What is it?" "The bank sent me word that my account is overdrawn. I looked in the synonym book and found that 'overdrawn' is the same as 'exaggerated'."—Washington Star.

"Ever tempted to sell your automobile?" asked the Cheerful Idiot. "The temptation is strong enough," replied Mr. Inland. "But there are too many points involved. You know I mortgaged my house in order to buy the machine?" "Yes, I know that." "Well, I mortgaged the machine in order to build the garage and now I've had to mortgage the garage in order to buy gasoline."—Puck.

He Followed.
 The late Gilman Marston of New Hampshire was arguing a complicated case, and looked up authorities back to Julius Caesar, relates the Christian Register. At the end of an hour and a half he was pained to see what he had feared. The judge was unable to appreciate the niceties of his argument. "Your honor," he said, "I beg your pardon, but do you follow me?" "I have so far," answered the judge, shifting wearily about in his chair, "but I'll say frankly that if I thought I could find my way back I'd quit right here."

Economical.
 The canny Scotchman is, of course, a synonym for thrift. Ian MacDougal, about to leave on a journey, proved no exception to the rule. In his parting injunctions to his wife he said:

"No, Janet, don't forget to make wee Sandy tak' off his glasses when he's no' looking through them."

Surprisingly Ungacious.
 "Germany's reception of President Wilson's last note was most surprisingly ungacious."

The speaker was Joseph H. Choate, diplomat and lawyer. "Germany, in this instance," he continued, "reminds me of the chap whose office a beggar entered. 'I ain't had nothing to eat for two days, boss,' said the beggar, 'Can't ye help me out?'"

"I'd like to, my man," was the reply, "but I sprained my foot on a bill collector yesterday."—Washington Star.

Another Chance.

A young probationer was preaching his trial sermon at a parish church in the north of England after finishing his discourse he leaned over the pulpit and engaged in silent prayer, an act which rather surprised the congregation, who were unaccustomed to such modes of proceeding. But the worthy old Scottish beadle, ascending the pulpit steps, began clapping the young preacher on the back and said: "Foot, toot, man, dinna tak' it sae much to heart; ye'll mebbe dae better next time!"—Rochester Times.

Home is Best.

Willie Jones was playing with the Robinson children next door. When luncheon time came Mrs. Robinson asked him if he wouldn't like to stay.

"No, thank you," said Willie. "I think I'd better go home. My mother will be expecting me."

"Suppose I telephone over and ask her if you may stay," suggested the hostess.

"Please don't do that Mrs. Robinson," said the boy earnestly. "We've got coconuts pie for dessert today, and your cook told me you've only got prunes."—Brooklyn Eagle.

ALBANY SPECIALIST
Makes Remarkable Cures
of Chronic Diseases
 Will see patients in Kingston
EVERY FRIDAY
 AT 340 BROADWAY

Dr. Swinburne of Albany
Cures Difficult Cases
Without Surgery

The craze for cutting is still growing. A great many doctors advise operations when entirely unnecessary. Not that it is always done to make more money from the case, but because many physicians have not given sufficient time to study and research to enable them to make correct diagnosis of obscure diseases, or to understand how to treat such cases successfully with improved medical methods. Too many doctors merely accept the ideas and follow the practice of other physicians and advise operations because it is a popular medical craze. Some doctors will even perform operations, when they know that other treatment would produce a cure. Surgery may be necessary in some cases, but many serious cases, where physicians have declared an operation was the only means which would offer a hope of saving life, the use of the proper treatment did produce a cure, and the patient restored to health, without the danger of an operation. A recent case will prove of interest. A young lady, supposed to be suffering from appendicitis. Four doctors, two of whom were prominent surgeons, had advised this patient that an operation was absolutely necessary. A thorough examination found it was not a case of appendicitis at all, but one of obstruction of the bile ducts and impaction of the gall bladder. Treatment was given immediately which would remove the obstruction and reduce the inflammation and in a few days the patient was entirely relieved of all suffering, and has since made a complete recovery. There are many similar cases where operations were performed and the results often times proved fatal, where a correct diagnosis and the proper treatment would have saved human life and suffering. Cases of gall stone can often be cured without operation, as well as many other troubles, including special diseases of women. If patients are advised to submit to the dangers of surgery, they should not consent until they obtain the opinion of Dr. Swinburne, a specialist who believes more in the efficiency of improved treatment rather than the wild craze for operations.

The doctor has permanent offices at 340 Broadway, Kingston, where patients can secure consultation on Fridays from 9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. Also Thursday evenings, 6:30 to 8 p. m.

MARBLESTONE'S
KINGSTON

ULSTER MOTORISTS PAID $3,279 TAX

Since the enactment of a bill passed by the legislature last March providing for the payment of one-half the fees received by the secretary of state from fees paid for automobile and motor vehicle licenses to the county in which the person paying the fee resides, the county of Ulster has received the sum of $1,339.50 from that source.

Under the law, which became effective on March 23, one-half of the fees paid to the secretary of state for automobile licenses and motor vehicle licenses is paid into the state treasury, and the remaining one-half goes to the counties. The amount paid to the secretary of state by automobile and motor vehicle owners residing in Ulster county for licenses therefore amounts to $3,279.

The percentage received by the counties is devoted, under the provisions of the law, toward defraying the cost of county highway maintenance.

Washington, July 11.—Senator Lewis, Democratic "whip" in the senate, this afternoon introduced a resolution in the senate calling upon the secretary of state for full information concerning the effect of the new Russo-Japanese alliance on the "open door" in China.

Recovers Suit at Law.

On Monday Philip Aduchefsky of the Central Clothing Company, central Broadway, obtained a warrant for the arrest of one Clark McLain, on a charge of petit larceny. It was claimed the tailor had let Clark have a suit of clothes, valued at $10.50, on his promise to come in the next day and pay for them. McLain failed to show up and the tailor learned he had gone to Poughkeepsie to work. Policeman Fout went to the Bridge City and returned that evening with his man. Later at police headquarters McLain and Aduchefsky settled their differences, the suit of clothes being returned to the tailor, who withdrew the complaint and McLain was discharged.

HOUSE TO PROBE GUARD MOVEMENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 11.—The house committee on military affairs this afternoon ordered a favorable report on the Moore resolution which asks the secretary of war to advise the house whether reports are true that troops of the National Guard were sent to the border in unsanitary cars, that they were without food and water for long periods, and that the cars were dilapidated, badly lighted and not properly stocked with provisions.

The House subsequently adopted the Moore resolution and asked Secretary Baker to advise fully regarding the railroad accommodations furnished troops of the National Guard enroute to the border.

Another resolution offered by Representative Gardner of Massachusetts was also adopted which asks Secretary Baker to advise the House how many troops of the Arizona, Texas and New Mexico National Guard failed to respond to the enlistment call.

ALLIED BOYCOTT OF NEUTRALS TO COME WITH PEACE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 11.—Serious concern is growing in administration circles over the now certain assaults to be made on America trade when the European war is ended. Much of the alarm is due to the study made by the American embassy in Paris of the recent conference of the Entente Powers.

The fact that they adopted a program of offense and defense along trade lines indicates, officials say, that after the war they will try to extend their boycott to neutral nations in order that their own trade may recover from the effects of the great conflict.

It will not alone be the entente powers that must be reckoned with. Naturally officials say the Teutonic Powers do not intend to quietly submit to any general boycott. As a result the economic pressure will be extreme and the United States must be in a position to compete with reduced prices and cut rates along all lines of production. Fortunately officials say, this country's financial reserve will be so vast that it will have a material advantage at all times.

Senators Stone and Lodge agreed, in their speeches in the senate yesterday, that the situation is one demanding the greatest care in shaping a future policy. It has been decided by the senate committee on foreign relations that it will carefully examine all the data submitted by the state department through the president yesterday and try to decide on non-partisan remedial legislation. This will make three separate investigations along this line in progress as follows:

By Secretary of Commerce Redfield and the division of domestic and foreign commerce.

By the federal trade commission.

By the senate foreign relations committee.

No data is available as to the effect the proposed agreement of the entente allies will have on trade of neutral nations. This is the information that the senate committee is most anxious to get and it is known that the president will ask to have it gathered in Paris, London and Petrograd.

REAPPORTONMENT IN APPEALS COURT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 11.—The court of appeals is hearing today the reapportionment appeal brought by the department of the attorney general from a decision of the appellate division, same department, which ruled that the legislative act of 1916, reapportioning the senate districts so as to create 51 instead of 50 senators, was unconstitutional.

State Senator Elton R. Brown argued the case for the state because of the fact that he had been three times in the court of appeals on the same matter. He was designated by Attorney General Woodbury.

Senator Brown in his argument pointed out that the attack on the reapportionment rests on the allegation that there should be but 50 senators. He called attention to the fact that the legislature took the position that an additional senator was given to Kings County in 1907, making the senatorial representation there eight instead of seven as it was under the constitution. This additional senator continued to be in addition to the 50. The petitioners thus claimed that inasmuch as Kings now has eight senators at the time of the present reapportionment there is no additional senator and that therefore the contingency does not exist whereby the legislature should create 51.

Senator Brown also pointed out that to correct this the appellate division struck out one senator in Westchester county. He said this was a misapprehension.

El Paso, Tex., July 11.—After a narrow escape from Carranza soldiers, who sought to imprison him, John T. Hayes, manager of the Babicora ranch in Chihuahua arrived here at noon today. The Babicora ranch is owned by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst.

Hayes stated that the Carranza government had confiscated the ranch and all the stock on the pretext that Mrs. Hearst was selling horses and supplies to the American forces under General Pershing.

Hayes was informed, he declared, three hours before the arrival of the soldiers that the ranch was to be confiscated and himself imprisoned. He immediately rounded up 110 horses and with several Mexican cowboys drove to Colonia Dublin.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Tennis Club of the First Reformed Church, will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the basement of the church. As matters of importance will be brought up at the meeting all members are requested to be present.

CABINET TALKING ON STATUS OF SHIP

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 11.—President Wilson and the cabinet today discussed the general status of the German super-submarine Deutschland and the effect that the opening by the Germans of a regular under-seas traffic between the United States and German ports might have upon the future international relations of this government.

It was decided that there should be no change from the policy adopted at the time the decision first was reached in the "armed liner" case. All submarine merchantmen will be considered entirely upon their merits and decision will be reached as to each craft's rights only after individual study.

So far as any action on what position this government would take on the Anglo-French blockade and the effect upon it of the passage of the Deutschland, no decision was reached.

SHOT HUSBAND IN NEW JERSEY HOME

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Caldwell, N. J., July 11.—Christopher Beutinger, a wealthy coal dealer with offices in New York, was shot to death in the Beutinger home today. The victim's young wife was arrested and when she was arraigned admitted she had shot her husband because he had abused her.

Mrs. Beutinger declared that her husband forced his way into her bedroom and, thinking that he intended to do her bodily harm she fired on him.

A Novel Introduction

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

I had been at the Chocohasset inn, a summer resort, a couple of days when a young lady arrived whose appearance struck me favorably and forcibly. I was standing on the porch when she came up the steps, and though she did not notice me, I had a very good opportunity to observe her. "If she is so attractive in appearance," I remarked to myself, "begrimed with engine dust, what must she be in evening dress?"

The next morning I went down to breakfast, forgetting to lock the door of my room. On returning to get a cigar, what was my surprise to see the young lady whose appearance I had admired coming out of the apartment. I doffed my hat and stood looking at her languishingly. She had taken the key, which I had left inside, from the lock and was putting it on the outside. Having locked the door, she turned and faced me. Noticing by my expression that something was wrong, she looked at me inquiringly.

"I fancy you have made a mistake," I said.

"How so?"

"You have evidently mistaken my room for yours."

"Not at all; this is my room."

I beckoned to a chambermaid who was passing and asked her to call for the clerk of the house. He came up and, after telling him of the situation, I asked him what was the number of my room. He said he would have to go back to the office to find out, whereupon I said:

"You needn't do that. Go into the room with the lady and learn whose baggage is there."

He opened the door and entered the room, the lady following him. I followed the lady. I had put my trunk in a closet, removing what I especially needed to the bureau drawers. The consequence was that the room appeared to be empty. The girl looked about her, and I saw by her expression that she was puzzled. The clerk opened the door and, standing on the

with men's garments hanging above it. The girl looked astonished. He then opened a bureau drawer, and there lay a number of laundered shirts. The girl was astonished.

"I returned to my room after breakfast," she said, "remembering that I had left my portmanteau in this little place on the bureau. I took it without looking about me."

"That's exactly where I left my money," I said, and, lifting the lid of the place referred to, I displayed—emptiness.

"Great heavens!" exclaimed the girl. "Can I have taken your property?" She produced a roll of bills and with trembling hands counted them. "Oh, my good gracious! I didn't have but $7; there are thirty here."

Had I acquiesced in her statement, as I should have done, the episode would have been ended, and my acquaintance with the lady would have remained undeveloped. But I especially desired that the acquaintance should continue. I did not attempt to soothe her feelings. I did not say that I believed her story or that I disbelieved it.

"I wish you both to come to my room," she said, evidently much troubled. "That I may show you there is $7 in the same place relatively as this."

"Please excuse me," I said coldly. "It would not be the part of a gentleman to ask for proof in such a matter from a lady."

She cast a half troubled, half indignant glance at me; then, turning on her heel, she said to the clerk imperatively, "Come with me."

He seemed much surprised that I did not at once warmly exonerate the lady and followed her as she had commanded.

I knew very well that the episode had not ended, and I was not mistaken. Later in the day the landlady came to me and said that the lady who had mistaken my room for hers desired to see me, that she might convince me of her innocence of any wrong intention and that she had taken my money by mistake. She was waiting for me in the parlor. I went there at once and approached her with serious mien.

I permitted her to labor through a defense that no lawyer would give a fig for, I wearing an expression of doubt, and when she could go no further from sheer worry I broke into a smile.

"No."

"Do you suppose," I said, "that I would suspect that what you did this morning was intentional?"

"Then why have you acted as if you have?" she exclaimed, both relieved and irritated.

There was a pause. I couldn't give the true reason, yet I must get out of the hole somehow.

"I have a reason," I said—"a very important one. But I cannot at present give it to you. Should you care to know it, say, six months hence I will tell it. Possibly the time may be shorter. It may be a few weeks, a few days. We shall see."

I did not doubt that she would keep in touch with me till she got that reason. I was formally introduced to her, and she came for me every day while we were together at the inn to extract it from me. While I was putting her off I was talking and acting very sweet to her, and before we left the place had made such headway that I could rescue the true cause.

She pretended to be very angry with me for my action in the matter, but this did not prevent her accepting future attention, and in the end she accepted me as well.

Exclusive.

Young Heffron was overjoyed when Ruby-Jackson promised to be his wife and presented himself before the rich old father to obtain his consent.

"What do you want a wife for when you can scarcely support yourself?" queried the old gentleman crustily.

"Why, sir, my daughter would starve!" "Well, sir," replied Heffron, with great dignity, "if you are the kind of man to let your daughter and her husband starve, I don't wish to enter the family."

Expert Testimony.

Young Mrs. Cornell was a bride of but a short time. One afternoon she confided to her friends at a pink tea that she was sure her husband never played poker at his club. "How," queried one of the women, "did you find out?" "Oh," explained the young bride, "I met a couple of the members of his club the other day and I asked them: 'Can Perry play poker?' They looked thoughtful for a moment and then answered very sincerely: 'No.'"

COFIELD SENT TO RANDALL'S ISLAND

Found Guilty of Stealing Gum Machine at O. & W. Station—Augustus Elmendorf, Another Member of Juvenile Trio, Goes Off With Suspended Sentence.

With the sentencing of Albert Cofield, 14 years old, of Martin's Lane, to Randall's Island, and the placing of Augustus Elmendorf, 13 years old, of No. 528 Broadway, on probation, the last of a trio of youthful thieves were rounded up by the police. Frank Scheimerhorn, who the other boys asserted, was the ringleader, was sent to the Catholic Protectory on Monday.

According to the story Cofield, a colored youth, and Elmendorf told Recorder Lang this morning in children's court, the three boys had gone swimming one day the latter part of June in the Esopus creek. Afterward they took a gum machine from the O. & W. station and broke it open, taking the contents of money and gum.

On Monday the boys were arraigned before Recorder Lang, who sentenced young Scheimerhorn, but held the case of the other two boys open until today. Young Cofield has been in trouble before and has been placed on probation three times. When sentenced to Randall's Island he burst into tears.

Elmendorf's father was present in court and pleaded hard that his boy be given another chance. Recorder Lang sentenced the lad to Randall's Island but suspended sentence provided the boy report every day at the city hall and that he be in bed at 9 o'clock every night. In case the boys get into trouble again he was warned that he would also be sent to Randall's Island. The Elmendorf boy has been on probation but once.

POLITICAL RAINBOW'S COLORS.

Primary Ballots Affected by Shortage of Dye-stuffs.

Colors assigned to the various political parties for their primary ballots were announced by Secretary of State Hugo on Monday as follows: Republican, cherry; Democratic, light green; Progressive, light blue; Independence League, canary; American, terra cotta; Prohibition, mandarin; Socialist, buff. Local election boards will be notified to that effect. Heretofore the primary ballots of the American party have been printed on scarlet paper, but the lack of scarlet dyes in this country and consequent scarcity of paper of that color caused the substitution of terra cotta for the usual red of the American party.

To Take Vote on Pastor.

Copra Trade Important.

The trade in copra, which is the dried meat of coconuts, is one of the important trade lines of the world's markets, copra giving forth coconut oil, which has many uses, its principal use being in the making of soap by the great soap manufacturers of the world. Copra butter has also come to be an important article of world commerce, and much dried coconut meat is used throughout the world in the confectionery business.

How to Combat Paralysis Epidemic

Dr. Collins Warns Against Feeling of False Security Gives Hints for Safeguarding Children

Dr. Joseph Collins, former President of the American Neurological Association, says: One of the main allies of infection is fatigue. Organisms are not likely to harm us if we are in sturdy health. If the forces of the body are at low ebb, the perils to human life are increased in time of epidemic.

The parent should see to it that children have abundant meals of substantial and wholesome food and not put under heavy tension by undue excitement or exertion. Fatigue lets down the bars and throws open the door to a myriad of ills. It makes the body especially receptive to so virulent a disease as infantile paralysis.

The basis of a child's diet should be clean, pure, whole pasteurized milk—such milk has the qualities of a true elixir of life for the adult as well as the child. It contains sugar, minerals, oils, fats, albumens, starches, etc., necessary to the human body. The uses of pure pasteurized milk will show a slowing of the pulse, strengthening the heart and muscles, toning up the entire system and act as a stimulant of the most pronounced type.

Upon the recommendation of the Pasteur Institute, pasteurized milk is being used to stimulate soldiers, particularly before they go into battle. The use of the milk has had a marvelous effect upon the soldiers who have shown greater endurance, power, energy and strength. The French government has been so impressed by its successful use that it has ordered cafe proprietors to push its sale in preference to other popular drinks.

The alimentary canal of the adult as well as of the child should be kept clean from end to end. No raw or infected milk should be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Report on Inspection at Camp Whitman Where Former Has Three Cousins in Militia Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman motored to Camp Whitman Monday and while at Camp Mr. and Mrs. Gorman were guests of Mr. Gorman's three cousins, Sergeant Lawrence, Corporal Lawrence and Private Joseph Blaber, of Company I of Flushing, L. I. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman were shown all through the camp. Captain Meagher and his two assistants were busy making out the payroll for Company M. The visitors found everything spick and span. While they were in camp, Company M mess call was sounded. Sergeant Dixon looked after the details as the men were handed their kits and set down to a juicy beef steak dinner with bread, potatoes, butter and jam. All the boys had plenty of food, but are short on shoes and wearing apparel. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman returned home in the evening after spending a very pleasant afternoon at camp, finding the boys in a happy mood and all well.

Rear Admiral Caperton will be succeeded by Rear Admiral Pond, now commanding the auxiliary division of the Atlantic fleet.

Why Louis is Here. Louis Frank, who was the hero of a step-ladder mystery several years ago is in town. Mr. Frank resides in Poughkeepsie, where he has made his home since leaving Kingston, and all his visits here since he went away have been only for two or three days. These short visits have caused so many friends to inquire why he came for such a short time that he has decided to take the next two months off and tell them.

VILLA RULER OF NORTHERN MEXICO IS LATEST CLAIM

War Department Begins Distribution of Militia Troops Along Border—First Chief Plainly Worried by Bandit's Accession to Power—Army of 3,000 "Missing?"

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., July 11.—Mutiny and desertion are rapidly depleting the ranks of Carranza's army according to reports reaching here today. With each new defection of troops from the de facto government standard, the forces of "Pancho" Villa are strengthened. In some quarters the prediction was made today that in sixty days First Chief Carranza will be overthrown and that Villa will rule Mexico—at least, the northern division of it.

State department at Washington has been informed of every fresh development in the crisis and the rapid ascension of Villa promises to lend a new twist to the diplomatic situation.

Mexican official reports, as issued at Juarez, are unusually conservative where they are not flatly contradictory. The latest report from that side told how 2,000 Carranzista cavalry, later supported by one thousand reinforcements, had engaged the Villista forces under General Calixto Contreras near Corralitos. From all that can be learned from the Mexican authorities, the army of 3,000 has disappeared. They say nothing has been heard from it or the battle in which it was supposed to have engaged last Saturday.

The character of Chihuahua City gave strength to rumors that 2,000 troops of General Jacinto Trevino had mutinied and fought with the government forces still remaining loyal. It was reported that the Chihuahua mutiny was led by Villista agents. General Trevino himself is said to have led the force that was sent to punish the mutineers. Meagre reports, all unconfirmed, from the vicinity, tell of a victorious engagement fought through Chihuahua streets and into the hills that surround the town. Villa himself is believed to be somewhere between Jimenez and Parral.

If the Mexican officials choose to belittle reports that "Villa is coming back" powerfully, their reluctance is not shared by First Chief Carranza, whose warnings in Washington are reiterated. The call of "Pancho" Villa to his former commanders and the "Loyal" Mexicans who served with him in other campaigns are being emphasized with threats of execution and mayhem. Says one proclamation:

"Death to the Gringo."

"The valiant General Francisco Villa, champion of the oppressed and enemy of those who are throttling Mexico, is once more in the field against those who would ravish our beloved land."

He has challenged the forces of Carranza, the oppressor, and already has achieved notable victories over the whiskered one. Carranza's soul quakes in fear and he has sent appeals to his friend, the American government, to save him.

"But no power can save Carranza from the wrath of righteous and loyal Mexicans. No longer can he give to the gringo the right to make the gringo rich at the cost of our hearts' blood. The time has come to strike for liberty."

"Therefore General Francisco Villa calls upon all loyal Mexicans to assemble to his stand to fight for freedom and justice. He will welcome again those who have mistakenly entered the service of Carranza only to be betrayed. His battle cry will be 'Death to the gringo and life to Mexico.'"

Sniping Still Takes Toll.

Sniping still goes on along the American line of communications in Mexico and the bodies of seven American troopers, victims of the snipers' rifles, have been brought to an undertaking shop in El Paso.

The war department has begun a wholesale distribution of the militia troops along the border. Tonight the Fifth Massachusetts Infantry is to entrain for the Big Bend country, one of the wildest sections of the border. Before the week is ended there will be at least 25,000 troops in this district.

Border Maneuvers for Guard?

The report that the government is going to turn the border movement into a six months' series of maneuvers has not yet been confirmed officially. The Pennsylvania militia men who suffered attacks of pneumonia poisoning following the eating of canned food, are reported recovering today. Minor injuries, resulting from camp activities, being cared for by the hospital detachments with the various militia bodies.

J. M. Curtis, of Company K, Fifth Massachusetts Infantry, was stabbed in a brawl with a man said to be a regular soldier. Curtis was taken to Fort Bliss hospital, where it was said he would recover.

Firemen Faced Explosives.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Newcastle, Del., July 11.—Prompt work by the firemen of Newcastle and Wilmington saved the shell-loading plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company when fire broke out in the building today. Surrounded by tons of high explosives the men worked in constant danger of death until the flames were subdued. Some had the clothing burned from their bodies.

Newburgh Camp at Port Ewen.

The members of the boy choir of St. George's Church, Newburgh, will leave Newburgh today for a two weeks' camping trip at Port Ewen. The boys annually make the trip and this year there will be about 25 in the party. Prof. Roy Leighton Scott, organist and choir director, with his father will accompany the boys.

OPENING OF MOTOR PLANT.

Prospects of Concern Before Chamber of Commerce.

A special meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be held tomorrow evening at the city hall at 8 o'clock. Beside the members of the board, every business man in the city who is interested in the re-opening of the Remington Motors plant on Grand street is asked to attend.

At this special meeting Attorney Joseph M. Fowler and Secretary Canfield will tell of the success met on the recent trip to New York where they investigated interests behind the proposed re-opening of the automobile plant in this city.

ETHEL SERGENT, 31

CUPID STARTS IN THE MAIL ORDER BUSINESS.

(Ethel M. Sargent, Bride by Mail.)

Newark, N. J., July 11.—When Private Louis Bausemer of Company H, First New Jersey Infantry, was called to border duty at Douglas, Ariz., his fiancée, Miss Ethel M. Sargent, was heart-broken until she found a way to overcome the difficulty and marry the man of her choice.

She is going to be married by mail; and the wedding contract, drawn up by her lawyer, is now speeding southward where it will be signed by the lucky soldier and sent back to Newark. Then Miss Sargent will be a legal wife. And when the boys come marching home, she can marry again in the regular way.

The signed marriage certificate is recognized as legal and binding and takes the place of the marriage license as a record for the registrar of vital statistics.

MENKE'S DAILY
SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, July 11.—The sensational playing of Jake Daubert around the first bag is one of the several reasons for the great showing of the Dodgers this year. Jacob has risen to heights this season greater than ever before. He has been making stops and throws that have brought gasps of amazement from even the most blasé fans.

The other Dodger infielders are none too accurate in their pegging.
But it makes no difference. They don't need to be with Jake on first,
second or low, wide or straight at him.
Jake manages to grab the ball. He digs them out of the real estate or leaps six feet into the air. He spears them with his gloved mitt, while his body is stretched out to its full limit,
or he grabs them with the ungloved
palm.

A dozen times at least since the season began, Daubert's uncanny skill in snaring the wild heavens has saved a game for the Brooklynites.
Times without number he has grabbed atrocious flings and killed off runners going to first. Just how many rallies Daubert has checked, or how many runs he has choked off for the Dodger fans, is something that no one can tell with any degree of accuracy. But they have been many in number.

Thin Steak—Sallee Quits.

Ol' Bill Sallee of Chicago who compares with G. Washington as to veracity, insists that a thin beef-steak caused him to quit baseball.
"The Cubs and Cardinals foregath-ered in the same New York hotel," wrote Sallee, in the Chicago Ameri-
can. "That was a short time ago,
while the Cubs were playing the Giants and the Cardinals were battling the Dodgers."

"The Cubs ordered from the lacette bill of fare, where the steaks are juicy and thick. The Cardinals, living at the same hotel, were on the American plan, where the steaks are not large and juicy."

"Sallee ordered a steak one evening; so did Claude Hendrix, the Cub pitcher. Sallee's steak was a sliver; Claude's was thick and juicy. Immediately Sallee hunted up Manager Miller Huggins."

"Ain't I as good a pitcher as those fellows from Chicago?" he demanded of Huggins.

"As good? Why, you're far better than any of them," answered Huggins.

"Then why do they get thicker steaks?" Sallee asked.

"Rules is rules," answered Huggins, whereupon a row started that resulted in Sallee quitting the Cardinals."

Jinx Pursues Starring Yanks.

A peculiar jinx pursues the Yankees. It never overtakes a player until he begins to be really valuable.
Then it clutches him.

Leslie Numamaker didn't hit any too well during the early weeks of the season. In May he began to pick 'em out and bang 'em quite lustily.
Then, all of a sudden, he would lose the mitt of Leslie and sends him to the repair shop.

Just as soon as Fritz Maisel began to find the ball, after weeks of inactivity with the mare, he broke his leg.
George Moordike, the slubman, was breezing along quite merrily, after an inauspicious start, when his arm developed aches and pains—and to the sidelines he did go.

During the first two months of the season Frank Gilhooley fell far below expectations in the swatting line.
Of a sudden, however, he bumped into a streak and day after day potted
the ball into all portions of the lot.
And then he broke his leg.

Collins Slump Misconstrued.

Eddie Collins isn't leading a very care-free life these days, according to Chicago reports. The second-sucker of the White Sox is said to be quite unpopular with his mates. They blame him for the poor start of the club, claiming that he wasn't doing his best.

In some quarters there was the suspicion that Collins was out for Clarence Rowland's job as manager.
It was whispered that Eddie figured if the Sox didn't go very well this year Rowland probably would be "canned" and Collins appointed.
However, this story doesn't ring true.
Collins is too fine a man and too great a ball player to purposely kill the chances of his team for world series honors to further his personal ambition.

Collins knew when the season began that with any sort of luck the Sox ought to be in the fight all the way. Cognizant of this, he certainly wouldn't try to kill that chance by playing below his real form. Eddie plays the game all the time.

The star second baseman didn't go very well during the first 12 weeks of the campaign. He was nearly 80 points below his normal batting gait.
His fielding didn't scintillate as in other years. But that condition, without doubt, was not intentional.
Every player runs into a slump sooner or later. Unfortunately, it came to Collins this year when some folks were not in a mood to forgive it.

Others may feel that Eddie has "thrown" his club. We don't. Some may think his star is setting, but it is our belief that before the 1916 finish line is crossed it will find Collins back where he belongs—near the top in hitting and on or around the top in fielding.

Hebrews Defeat White Eagles.

On Sunday afternoon there was an exciting game of ball played between the Hebrew school and the White Eagles. The Hebrew school won by the score of 14 to 8. A feature of the game was the Hebrew school boys tallying 8 runs in the sixth inning.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank our friends and neighbors who so kindly helped us through our late bereavement, also for the beautiful flowers they gave to our loved one.

Hot Liners.
(By Frank G. Menke.)

There's a newcomer in the fight for the American League pennant.
The White Sox appeared on the horizon this morning. They gave the Red Sox 18 coast eggs yesterday and jumped to within three games of the lead.

The Yankees received another setback when the Indians brought them down a peg. Smith's home run in the eighth did the trick.

The Dodgers were also thrown back by the Reds. But the Robins still have a little margin to work on.

Lo, the poor Giants. The jinx is still pursuing them.

The Braves and Phillies upheld the dignity of the east when they defeated the Cubs and Cardinals.

of navy chip straw, and tan crown

trimming is the grosgrain band and

ing some time with his brother at the M. E. parsonage, returned to his home at Margaretville, Monday.

Miss Mary E. Krom is home from Minneapolis for a few days.

Mrs. Jacob Steen and Mrs. Schoonmaker have returned from a week's visit at Mohonk Lake.

Both ice cream parlors in the lower end of the village were liberally patronized Saturday night.

The Hebrew boarding house on the St. John road, run by Samuel Berhadsky is filled to overflowing.
Mr. Berhadsky is looking for sleeping apartments.

BLACK TERN
(Chydrochelidon nigra sursummunda)

Length, ten inches. In autumn occurs as a migrant on the east coast of the United States, and then is in white and gray plumage. During the breeding season it is confined to the interior, is chiefly black, and is the only dark tern occurring inland.

Range: Breeds from California,
Colorado, Missouri, and Ohio, north to central Canada; winters from Mexico to South America; migrant in the eastern United States.

Habits and economic status: This tern, unlike most of its relatives, passes much of its life on fresh-water lakes and marshes of the interior. Its nests are placed among the reeds and weeds, on floating vegetation, or on muskat houses. It lays from two to four eggs. Its food is more varied than that of any other tern. So far as known it preys upon no food fishes, but feeds extensively upon such enemies of fish as dragonfly nymphs,
fish-eating beetles, and crawfishes.
Unlike most of its family, it devours
a great variety of insects, many of which it catches as it flies. Dragonflies, May flies, grasshoppers, predace-ous diving beetles, scarabaeid beetles, leaf beetles, gnats, and other flies are the principal kinds preyed upon.
Fishes of little economic value, chiefly minnows and mummichogs, were found to compose only a little more than 19 per cent of the contents of 145 stomachs. The great consumption of insects by the black tern places it among the beneficial species worthy of protection.
